A honeycomb has six wax sides; it's built for the honey to hide; a half-dozen bees make the honey with ease, and children and bears like it too!

Six, twelve, eighteen, twenty-four,

Thirty, and let's count some more, thirty-six, forty-two, forty-eight, fifty-four. Our counting has been quick and sure.